James Shields, an old and honored citizen of Hamblen county, East Tennessee, died last Friday.

THE New York Herald is nothing without a map. Whether an explorer is wandering in the heart of Africa, a ship wrecked or burned in some distant part of the world, an everflow in the Mississippi valley, a pattle fought, a train wrecked, or what not of any general interest, the Herald is out almost immediately with a map and description of the locality. One of the best and most timely efforts we have seen in that line is a map of Alexandria and its surroundings, which appears in the issue of the 11th inst. It gives an excellent idea of the The Historic Old City in

THE destruction of Alexandria is well-nigh complete. What British guns failed to demolish or destroy was left to the mercy of the flames and Moslem fanaticism. The British lacked a force sufficient to land at once and take advantage of their signal victory. A few thousand troops. thrown into the place immediately after the bombardment would The order. The temerity and arrogance of Egyptians invited their destruction, and one of the fairest cities o the East is now a mass of smoking ruins. But they are not the only sufferers. The wealth of all foreigners has been swept away, and hundreds of Europeans and Christians are reported to be massacred. There can be no doubt of this-and the end is not yet It is reported that Arabi Pasha is marching on Cairo. Wherever he is he can rally a sufficient force of Mussulmen to continue a stubborn and very serious resistance. He can retire to points in the interior, where iron clads and regular armies cannot follow. But aside from this, if England is about to gain any great advantage over the other great powers of Europe in the occupation and control of Egypt it will create jealousies which may lead to still mere serious difficulties. The whole world is looking on with an intense interest. It is a question of Europe. The leading powers cangreat historic tragedy going on. En-

GOVERNOR Hawkins and Secretary of State D. A. Nunn went to New York last week to sign the new bonds to be issued under the 60-3-4-5 6 act. The bonds were delivered by the Franklin Printing Company only last Thursday, but Colonel M. T. Polk had established a funding agency in the Continental National Bank building as early as the 7th of June. At this office old bonds have been exchanged for the State Treasurer's certificates. which are to be exchanged for new bonds when the latter are ready. The total amount of certificates issued has fallen a little short of $3,000,000. The bondholders' slowness in refunding is accounted for by Colonel Polk First, from the objection of present holders to exchange their negotiable security for one that is not negotiable, such as the Tressurer's certificates; and second, because the continued Pennace. The purveyor of the fleet, C., C., C. & I. being most conspicunessee has led many bondholders to doubt the permanency of the debt settlement. The Colonel is sanguine, however, that many bonds will soon arrive from Europe to be funded, that home holders will now come forward to fund and that the late settlement will stand. In talking to a Tribune report er the other day, he declared that enough Democrats in the State would vote with the Republicans to sustain the settlement, and that twothirds of the next Legislature would favor its enforcement, and levy taxes enough to carry it out for two years longer. That there is virtually an alliance between a certain class of Democrats and the Republicans of this State, no one any longer denies carry the State in spite of the coali

New York Horald, 11. The bombardment of Alexandria began this morning. All but the British vessels had left the harbor, colors flying at the mastel Arabi's terms of peace had been offered and rejected. He refused to surrender Thus the Egyptian campaign begins. Alexandria has known strange vicissitudes, but none more strange than this, since Amru, the Lieutenant of Omar, captured her and wrote to his master: "I have taken the great city of the West." She has seen great sights. Through her ports has passed the commerce of India and Arabia. Leaders of Greek thought have conversed in her gardens. An tony and Cleopatra have loved in her palaces. Her libraries, museums. monuments, have been the marvel of the world. And to day, she lies at the mercy of a rabble ruled by an Egyptian adventurer, dominated by British guns.

From the artillerist's point of view the bombardment will be of the highest importance. It will do much to show that the naval battles of the tuture will be those, not of fleet against fleet, but of shirs against land defenses. The duel of the Hussear and the Chilian iron clads in the South American war will probably be one of the last ever fought in the open sca, A new style of maritime war has come in with the use of steam and of protecting armor.
